Moscow Also Sees Satellite's Plunge Within One Week .

By JOHN A. HARRIS

WASHINGTON IN - A government scientist says Russia's Sput nik-which has circled the earth for 12 days—may plunge from its orbit and burst into flames with-

That view, expressed by Rob-erl Jastrow of the Naval Research Laboratory here, generally runs counter to other Western predictions that the satellite might re-main aloft for several months, possibly a year.

Also Losing Altitude

Jastrow, a theoretical consult-ant at the laboratory, also said last night there were indications Sputnik was losing altitude. On a recent pass over Washington, he added, the satellite's altitude was estimated at 147 miles.

Most previous estimates have had the orbit ranging from 170 miles up to about 580 miles. "Based on its altitude, the way

Former Texas Solon Guilty In Bribe Case

AUSTIN, Tex. On-Former State Rep. James E. Cox was con-victed of consenting to accept a $5.000 bribe and given a two-year prison sentence, yesterday.

Cox and his attractive branche wife showed no sign of emotion as a State District Court jury an-nounced its verdict after deliberaling only 49 minutes. He told newsmen he had no comment.

His chief counsel John Coffer said the case would be appealed.

Cox. 36, a Democrat from Con-roe, Tex., was convicted of agreeing to accept a $5,000 bribe from Dr. Howard Harmon, former president of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn., in return for withdrawing a bill he introduced in the Texas Legislature. The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever .- Morris.

'A Great American

REPORTS FROM Hollywood indicate that the time is not far distant when the public will be offered two biographical motion pictures, both of them dealing with the life of Phineas T. Barnum. That name may mean noth-Ing to the present generation of motion picture addicts and it is likely that In promoting the screen plays in which he has the central role a lot of publicity will have to be devoted to establishing his place in the history of this country, Yet the time was, when his name was a household word and even today, certain slogans he coined form a definite part of our colloquial American speech.
"There's one born every infinite," was Barnum's way of branding those who naively swallow anything, and we refer to this with the expression "Barnum was right," when we indicate one of the sucker class.

BARNUM WAS best known as a showman - a great showman, if you will - perhaps the greatest showman this country ever produced. Even yet, his name is used in connection with the largest American circus although of course, neither Barnum nor any members of his family had anything to do with that circus during the present century. It was long operated by a company, after Barnum's death in 1891, and then was purchased by the Ringling Brothers who in time merged with their own gigantic tent show. But those of an older generation will always remember Barnum as the proprietor of "The Greatest Show On Earth"-another of his famous slogans. However, it is scarcely possible that there is anyone still living who can recall the days when Phineas Barnum, a shrewd young Yankee, operated a museum in Boston where the public was astounded by the marvels, the curiosities, the wonders, he collected and placed on exhibition. Some of these were pure fakes and some were real. All were interesting.

ONE OF THE outstanding attractions of Barnum's museum was an aged Negress named Joice Heth, who, according to the claim made by Barnum, had been George Washington's nurse. This is doubtful, but newspaper accounts of the time indicate that she may have been a slave in the Washing-ton family when the future First President was bimself very young. Then there was Gen, and Mrs. Tom Thumb, absolutely genuine, who set the fad in midgets, and also Jumbo, the largest of all elephants, whose name added another word to the English But Barnum did not confine himself to freaks or wonders that stretched the imagination. He brought Jenny Lind, the famous "Swedish Nightingale" to this country for an extended concert tour, thus bringing a cultural touch to the American scene at a time when we were quite short on culture.

IT IS CERTAIN that Barnum liked money and knew how to gel it. At the same time he gave his patrons value received and when he started his great circus which travelled by railroad and reached every part of the country, he conferred a real boon on an amusement hungry people. There had been circuses before of course, but they were tiny affairs which moved about by wagon and amounted to little. But Barnum did something really big and his slogan. "The Greatest Show On Earth" was no exaggeration. And this man even influenced the literature of the country for the time came when his life story held a place of honor in every home which boasted any books at all, and the story of the African hunting expedition which he made possible, was avidly read especially by boys with the love of adventure in their hearts. Yes, Phineas T. Barnum was a great man, a great American, and it is good to know that the present generation will soon become acquainted with him through the medium of the motion picture.

Both Parties Have Eyes On New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J .- In just about three weeks New Jersey will either produce a leading candidate for the Democratic nominals tion for President in 1960 or fuse new life and hope into the downcast GOP,

The wise money, much of it Republican, is on the former possibility. Why this is so tells a lot about the free-wheeling nature of politics as it is pracfleed today and why the candidate himself is of the very first importance in any hard-fought campaign.

IN 1953 New Jersey Democra-tic leaders awarded what even they considered a not very valu-able nomination for Governor to an altractive but moderately obscure state legislator, Robert B. Meyner, Meyner slid home with the help of GOP state scandals and a split between Taft and Eisenhower Republicans.

Since then he has proved a popular middle-of-the road Governor who took some progressive steps, adopted various programs urged by his own party and ap-pointed aids generally identified with the Adial Stevenson brand of Democrat. At the same time he has done and said nothing ideologically extreme.

NEW JERSEY business men found him courteous and respons-ive. This is important in the bustiing state which furnishes food and bedrooms for mammeth New York across the Hudson, and has almost equally crowded ports and big industry.

In 1956 New Jersey came home to President Eisenhower, giving him a 760,000 plurality over Slevenson. State Republicans took heart and began a lively skirmish for the honor of beating Meyner this year, a prize carried off by the young and fluent pub-lisher of a leading financial magazine, Maleolm S. Forbes, who is also a State Senator,

FORBES HAS worked hard to upset the popular image of Mey-ner. His difficulties closely parallel those Stevenson faced in 1956 against Eisenhower. The Governor likes the customers and does nothing to annoy them. They like him and find it hard to believe has done anything really Wrong,

In an effort to make his attack stick, Forbes and his close supporters have sometimes swung wildly. It has been profitable to the extent that Meyner, normally even-tempered, has been drawn into controversy with his challenger. But it has had another effect not helpful to Forbes; congretatives, most of them. Parether of the control of them. ervatives, most of them Repub-licans, fear he is somewhat im-

FORBES HAD hoped that Democratic leuds in Hudson County—the old "rotten borough" of the late Frank Hague—would hurt Meyner. The Governor has done some peacemaking there. Can Wages Keep Pace With High Costs?

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - Administration concern over infla-tion was dramatized here by President Eisenhower's speech before the World Bank annual meeting.

The President called rising prices a world phenomenon. But within each country he attributed the causes, first to excessive demand, second to how much people were paid for what they

As if to emphasize the President's concern, it was announced next day that the U.S. cost of living index rose to a new high of 121 in August - the 1947-49 average being 100. This is the consecutive monthly increase for a total of 3.6 per cent.

Union labor, under contracts having automatic cost of - living escalator clauses, is taken care of in this type of creeping inflation. Workers who don't have this protection are caught in the well-known inflation. well-known inflationary squeeze.

THE QUESTION is: What can be done for them, if wages are not advanced along with the price rise?

From the labor point of view, one of the most widely criticized of President Eisenhower's acts this year was his veto of the congressionally approved 11 per cent pay raise for government classified workers and sage workers and $546 a year for postal workers. The President said such increases would be inflationary.

In one sense, this was in keeping with recommendations made to the government by its semi-secret Business Advisory Council last May. A special committee from the 100-member, big business executive group, urged the administration not to move too fast on wage increases. Concern was expressed that government wage increases would set a poor precedent for business to follow.

The administration took this advice and kept the lid on.

But this situation is now re-The question is whether private employers will be able to resist inflationary wage increase demands which are certain to be made in the next six months in steel, auto and other basic industries.

Rumors

RUMORS predicting the de-cline and possible fall of Khrushchev are now affoat. More evidence is necessary before these rumors can be evaluated.

Since the death of Stalin there has been a crisis of leadership in the Kremlin. The totalitarian system which has evolved in Russia, and which has properly been characterized as Stalinist, calls for a leader. It is a system of lotal control, of total monopoly

Farmers

SOME handwriting was put on the wall recently by Jerry Voorhis, executive director of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. He declared that farmers need to work together more to their fair share of the national

At first glance, this may seem to be little more than the usual pep talk platitude for an audience of farmers. Actually, the speaker's prominent role in the American cooperative movement gives his remarks much greater significance than that. What he said indicates a trend in the thinking of farmers, a trend which could have important effeels on the American economy.

One cannot quarrel with the idea that the farmer is more or less the neglected man in our economy. The figures bear this out. Voorhis noted that whereas farmers got nine per cent of the nation's income a decade ago, to-day they get only three per cent. He called attention to the fact that the average farmer's income is very substantially below that of others.

The remedy Voorhis proposed for this situation springs, naturally, from the cooperative philosophy. "Unlike every other industry," to the said. 'farmers still own very few of their marketing and processing facilities and few sources of supply. Togetherness among farmers can make a better markel, gel supplies on better terms. and integrate these related industries to the independent farm." By no means all who read those words would agree to the wisdom of such a solution. Some would take a dim view of Voorhis ideas on this subject. But it would be well for us all to reflect on his remarks. The farmer's position in the national economy is clear-ly not up to par. Unless it improves rather quickly, more and more larmers may well band together to cut themselves a bigger piece of pie, of Education to implement the previous recommendations.

A problem cited in the report's surmary is the further training of the job of persons who are practicing their professions. There is a trend now toward bringing the instruction to places where there is a concentration of intellectual or professional interest. Hence it is recommended that some institution of higher learning, in conjunction with local industries and business leaders, see up graduate extension work, either of a formal or informal nature, for the stimulation and development of the various professions.

COLLEGE PARK - (Special) A, "Bud" Millikan, University Maryland basketball coach, greeted 20 candidates yesterday afternoon as practice sessions for the 1957-58 floor campaign

Millikan, starting his eighth year as Terp coach, has return-ing what could be Maryland's top basketball team in history. Four of last year's regulars are back along with three outstanding let-termen reserves, a top prospect Gene Danko, who was out with a broken ankle, a brilliant floor man back from the service in Tom Young, a former high school all-America in soph Jerry Bechtel and the entire freshman team of last season that was the best since Millikan took over in 1950. Bob O'Brien Gone

The starting five for the frosh had Jerry Shanahan, 6-2; Charley McNeil, 6-6; Bob McDonald, 6-7; Al Bunge, 6-8, and Bob Wilson, 5-9. It will be this fivesome that will be working hard, along with last year's reserves, plus Danko, Young, and Bechtle to make the starting five,

The Terps lost their star player and leading scorer of last seasor Bob O'Brien and reserve guard Bob Hardiman through gradua-tion. Returning from the first team are Nick Davis, John Nacincik, Perry Moore, and Jim Halleck, Davis had a 12.8 scoring average while Halleck had 11.8, Nacincik, 11.9, and Moore, 7-4.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper lett-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Roman Driver Can Talk Back To Cop

ROME — (INS) ... It's easy total reguling that he was right all motorist off with a reprimend, talk back to a cop in Rome, along.

Something no tow-fearing motorist in the U. S. would dare try appear resigned to the situation; enough. Most fines are for illegal traffic chaked streets of the Eter-

what is even more strange, the policemen don't seem to take offense. In fact, they ex-Roman motorists, notorious for being short on temper and long on the gas pedal, have little pa-ticace with policemen who whistle at them for such "triffing" things as ignoring a stop signal or making a wrong turn. A driver who has been stopped by a cop immediately begins to argue with the policeman without giving him time to explain. Even after he has been told of his oflense the driver will persist in
